

Borut Likar - short CV

Borut Likar is an associate professor at the University of Primorska – Faculty of Management where he also worked as a R&D Vice-Dean. Furthermore, he is a Managing Director of the Institute for Innovation and Technology. Prof. Likar is the author of many scientific and expert publications.

Besides, he is the initiator and the head of approx. 25 successful researches, applied, technological and other national and EU projects (ministries, Chamber of Commerce, Phare, ESF, Leonardo da Vinci, etc.). He is the founder of the National Association of Innovative Youth (also presented at the United Nations) and one of the initiators of the University Incubator of Primorska.

He is an innovator and author of countless patents, models and copyright works, many of which proved to be extremely marketable. Likar is the author of numerous books and guest speaker at various international conferences. His work encompasses management of creativity, R&D and innovation processes within the educational system and business sector in Slovenia and the EU. He also works as a consultant and an evaluator of national/EU projects.