

Marta Beck-Domžalska – administrator in the European Commission, statistical officer in Eurostat (Statistical Office of the European Union), Luxembourg.

Master graduate in economy (international economic relations), in the University of Economics in Cracow, Poland. Working from 1991 for Eurostat - first as an expert and from 2005 as an official.

Working since years on social statistics in Eurostat, especially in the domain of education statistics and of cross-cutting statistics (social indicators, gender statistics, youth statistics, culture and sport statistics, quality of life indicators). Specialised in the harmonisation of the methodologies of social statistics at the EU level (e.g. managing the ESSnet-Culture on methodology of culture statistics, preparing the final report on the quality of life indicators) and in collaboration with the OECD and UNESCO (e.g. responsible for implementation of the classification ISCED 2011 (International Standard Classification of Education)). Author and editor of many publications (e.g. 'Women and men in the EU', 'Social portrait of Europe', 'Youth in Europe', 'Culture statistics') and statistical articles.

Currently responsible for culture and sport statistics in Eurostat.