

Federico Milani. Deputy Head of Unit for Data Applications and Creativity in DG CONNECT (Communications Networks, Content & Technology). The unit supports creative industries and promotes creativity as an essential asset for society through research and innovation. The unit encourages the digitisation of cultural heritage and its access and reuse through new technologies and the further development of Europeana as the European cultural portal. The unit is responsible for the follow-up of the Commission's Recommendations on digitisation and digital preservation of cultural heritage.

He holds a PhD in Applied Mathematics (Artificial Intelligence ) from the University of Aston and a degree on Electronic Engineering from the University of Padova and has been a civil servant with the European Commission since 2001.