

Andrey Zubov is a Russian historian and political scientist, Doctor of History and a former Professor of the Moscow State Institute of International Relations. In 1998, Mr Zubov received an award from the 'Znanaia' fund. He launched a history section on the Novaya Gazeta website and, along with his colleagues, endeavours to explain the historical premises of the current situation in Russia. At this moment in time, he serves as the head of the Department of the History of Religions at Saint John Russian Orthodox University.