

Pedro Narro is actually Public Affairs Manager in Green Biotechnology at EuropaBio, (the European Association of Bioindustries) where he does the follow up of political developments and coordinates the implementation of the policy strategy.

Lawyer with an agriculture background and specialized on the agro-food sector. Before joining EuropaBio in early 2015 Narro was Director of International Affairs at ASAJA, (Farmers organization) that represents more than 200.000 members in Spain. In the last 15 years he has coordinated ASAJA's activities in COPA (European Farmers) and CEJA (European Council of Young Farmers).

He has been an active member of the EESC (European Economic and Social Committee-2007-2015) and the Sustainable Development Observatory. Rapporteur of several EESC opinions, Narro has always defended biotechnology as a model of sustainability.